INTERNATIONAL PSYCHOGERIATRIC ASSOCIATION

The International Psychogeriatric Association (IPA) provides healthcare professionals and scientists with information about the behavioral and biological aspects of mental health in the aging. Through publications, meetings, and projects, IPA informs professionals of current and international perspectives on research, clinical practice, innovative developments, and significant literature related to Psychogeriatrics. In addition, IPA works actively to advance research and education and to increase worldwide understanding of psychogeriatric issues.

Membership is open to scientists and healthcare professionals of all disciplines, including general, geriatric and family medicine, neurology, nursing, pharmacology, psychiatry, psychology, and social work.

Representing over 60 countries, IPA's members include some of the most creative leaders in the field of Psychogeriatrics, whose energies consistently spark exciting scientific developments. Benefits of IPA membership include a subscription to International Psychogeriatrics, IPA's peer-reviewed, quarterly Journal; periodic special-focus supplements to the Journal; the informative quarterly newsletter, IPA Bulletin; reduced registration rates for IPA meetings, and other benefits. An application for membership can be found with your meeting materials.

IPA's mission: to improve the mental health of older people everywhere through education, research, professional development, advocacy, health promotion, and service development.

PAES DE SOUSA AWARD

In order to pay tribute to the Founder and their First President, the Portuguese Psychogeriatric Association, with the support of "Bristol-Myers Squibb" has decided to create, on this occasion, the Paes de Sousa Award.

In 1994, the Portuguese Psychogeriatric Association was created and Doctor Paes de Sousa was its President and the head office was located in Lisbon. Doctors Roldão Vieira, Marcelo Feio, Horácio Firmino and José Leitão belonged to the First Board of Directors.

The PPA is a scientific and cultural association comprised by physicians specialized in Psychiatry or similar areas as well as by other healthcare professionals interested in the study and development of psychiatry of the elderly people. Its main goal is the improvement of mental health as well as the well being of older people. To this purpose, it seeks to promote research, the exchange of points of view among associates, the formation of technicians, the debate and cultural diffusion.

It is our main interest to be involved in the public discussion about the elders health and we want to be heard in the preparation and implementation of such measures.

During this meeting the best poster presented by a Portuguese and an International presenter are recognized by this award (€ 750).
